

PROGRAMME OUTCOME EDUCATION (HONOURS)

- This type of study offers a broader and more in-depth perspective in the field of education.
- Students will have established a solid base to pursue further studies in M.A (Masters in Studies).
- Upon finishing the degree, students will be required to cultivate an interdisciplinary perspective. Subsequently, the individual can engage in advanced academic pursuits in disciplines unrelated to Education.
- Some intriguing and pertinent topics presented in the syllabus pique students' enthusiasm in conducting future research.
- Students have the opportunity to explore various teaching methodologies throughout the entire session, which enables them to enhance their teaching abilities.
- This programme encompasses several forms of psychological assessment. This greatly facilitates pupils in cultivating their psychological comprehension of human behavior.
- Students are enhancing their reading, speaking, and listening abilities through topics that focus on communication skills.
- This course offered a broader and more thorough perspective on inclusion. This really aids pupils in enhancing their understanding of inclusion, exclusion, and diverse children with disabilities.
- Students should possess the ability to recognize the crucial elements and employ suitable concepts when dealing with diverse issues in the field of education.

PROGRAMME OUTCOME EDUCATION (GENERAL)

- This B.A. (Gen) course in Education allows students to enhance their comprehensive grasp of educational institutions and the organizational atmosphere.
- This course offered a broader and more thorough perspective on inclusion. This really aids pupils in expanding their understanding of inclusion, exclusion, and diverse children with disabilities.
- Upon completion of this degree, students cultivate their disposition towards research endeavors and engage in small-scale research projects.
- Students will establish solid groundwork to pursue advanced studies in M.A. (Masters in Education).
- Students have the opportunity to explore various teaching methodologies throughout the entire session, which enables them to enhance their teaching abilities. Students are enhancing their reading, speaking, and listening abilities through topics that focus on communication skills.