OBJECTIVE: To observe World Wetlands Day on 2nd February, 2024 and to create awareness among participants about the importance of wetland.

SUMMARY: Satragachhi Jheel is associated with the migratory birds from the early 90s. The highest number of migratory waterfowl species recorded in Satragachhi Jheel is around 14 types which include some of the vagrant. The most abundant one is the Lesser Whistling Duck.

We sighted them in huge groups scattered all over the Jheel islands. We also spotted Cattle Egret, Little Egret, Stork-billed Kingfisher, Black Drongo, Purple Heron.

Lastly we had spotted Knob-billed Duck or African comb Duck. That is a type of duck found along the tropical / sub-tropical wetlands and waterways of Sub-Saharan Africa.

OUTCOME: The entire session was very interesting and exciting for both students and teachers. Participants became aware of the importance of the wetland.
